THE NATIONAL REPUBLICAN HAS A LARGER CIRCULATION THAN ANY OTHER MORNING PAPER IN THE DISTRICT OF CO-LUMBIA.

THE editor of the Richmond Enquirer declares that the "Devil persists in stand-"ing behind his back, night and day, "howling for copy." This explains the sublimated brimstone character of the Enquirer's editorials.

From the comments of the Virginia newspapers we infer that the recently adjourned Legislature of that State, while it did the people no good, did them but little harm. Yet the sham-Conservatives boast that their party is the party of progress, honesty and efficiency.

A PEW DAYS AGO a juckass in the Cincinnati zoological gardens was assailed by a lioness. Two rounds were fought in the battle which ensued, in the first of which the jack used his teeth, and in the last his beels. The subsequent proceedings interested that lioness no more. Since then the Cincinnati editors have been walking around with chips on their shoulders look ing for Honesses.

THOSE Democrats who rushed frantically into print with the assumption that President Grant purposely fomented the Mexican border troubles for the purpose of securing his own re-election have "put their foot in it," so to speak. The appeal of Gov. Coke. of Texas, who was elected by 50,000 majority, for aid is a sufficient answer to their charges. Coke, it should be understood, is a blatant Democrat of the most ultra Ku-Klux stripe. Is it possible that he is in leaugue with the President? Sad thought.

FROM the Texas papers we learn that the militia of that State, organized with a grand flourish at the beginning of Gov. Coke's Democratic administration, are to be withdrawn soon and disbanded. The Democratic Legislature failed to make appropriations for militia purposes, and the result is the absence of any home protection for the people against the Indians or the Mexican banditti. Hence Coke's request for United States troops; but the circumstances fitly illustrate the honesty of Democratic pretensions to support Home

IT IS REPORTED in New York that Chas. A. Dana, the Pirate of the Press, has secreted himself from public and even private gaze because it is understood, a United States marshal is looking after him. If this report is true, we can assure Dana that he may come forth from his hiding place with safety. He may reach Washington by water via Norfolk and the Potomac river line between the Capital and New York. and thereby escape the vigilance of his "persecutors" in Philadelphia, who have a little account of $5,000 forfeited bail to settle with him, besides a prosecution for into the sea by superstitious sailors; but that would not be an inconsolable occurrence. No whale would condescend to swallow him, and it is doubtful if the sea itself would not spew him up on to dry land. Let him try it, anyhow, and give us a first-class newspaper sensation. He has boasted all along that he is not afraid of the courts of justice; but, somehow or another, whenever an opportunity is afforded him to test his courage in that regard, he "makes himself scarce."

THE New Orleans Republican discovers that when the Conservative Committee returned from their visit to Washington during the last session of Congress they were "changed in their belief that the South "governed the Union, changed in the be-"lief that Louisiana governed the South, "and converted to the conviction that a "State which stands in the fifth class, even "if her people were united, can neither "control the Union nor offer an issue of 'sufficient importance to 'nationalize' "local contest for office." In this pointed sentence may be found much to explain the turbulent condition of the South. In fact, the Southern whites, who compose the Democratic party of that section, are so conceitedly arrogant and self-sufficient that they believe their most trifling act attracts world-wide attention. Ludicrous as this pompous self-assertion may appear to the millions and millions of people outside the South who go to make up the grand total of American citizenship, these Southern malcontents proceed with their bombastic customs with all the gravity of those famous Dooley-street tailors. South Carolina. Virginia and Louisiana are especially afflicted with this conviction of their own importance, and combined they are able to cast only twenty-six of the three hundred and sixty-six votes in the Electoral College.

THE condition of affairs in Mexico is, indeed, deplorable. Money is scarce, trade is stagnant, robberies are frequent, and a genend condition of dissatisfaction and disquiet prevails. The people seem to be anxious for a change of some kind, no matter what it may be, and the ignorant classes go to extremes in their demonstrations in that behalf. The robbing of mines, the majority of which are worked by foreigners, has become a regula: occurrence. As soon as large amounts of bullion have been accumulated, the bandits make a raid on the mines, carry off the treasure, and sometimes make prisoners of the owners for the purpose of obtaining ransom-money. In short the mass of the people seem to have no conception of law, industry, or justice, and the suggestion is made by disinterested travelers that nothing will save them from eventual barbarism except a foreign protectorate. The Star and Herald, an American newspaper printed at Panama, in discussing this suggestion, remarks:

"The impression is that it should be place under an American Territorial Government If the American people are unwilling to assume this responsibility, they have no right to debar other nations from doing it. The interests of civilization and humanity demand as much. The advantages, commercial and otherwise, that would accrue to California by the welfare and good government of Mexico would be in THE New York Graphic is a very able paper in its way, but sometimes its ways are, to say the least, unique. In a recent issue it nominates Governor Tilden, of New York, to be the Democratic candidate for President, and argues that his election would insure an honest administration of national affairs. In the course of the argument, however, it says: "We do not necessarily pledge ourselves to help to elect him." Then it proceeds to admonish the Republican party that it should nominate its best man to beat Tilden, "the ring-breaker," and adds: "It is a leading article in our politi-"cal creed that when we have an honest "and capable man in office we should keep

"him, and if President Tilden should serve during one term as the consistent representative of official honesty we should only regret that he is not young enough to be re-elected a dozen terms." The real object of the Gra; hie becomes apparent when it beseeches Tilden to "attack railroad, telegraph and other corporations" as well as "political and canal rings." The truth is, our New York cotemporary is the victim of a mania for the reduction of the Western Union Telegraph monopoly to something like a respectable agency for the accommodation of the public. Bad as that monopoly is, however, we fear the election of a Democratic President would be a greater misfortune than its continued existence. Under laws, such as the one proposed by General Butler in the last Congress, for example, the object so dear to the heart of the Graphic could be readily accomplished, while under Democratic rule worse abuses and dangers to the safety of the Republic would be certain to follow. Tilden, no doubt, is an honest and a good man, besides being a respectable and economical Governor; but honest, good, respectable and economical Democrats prove to be dangerous enemies to the people when they are trusted with the use of too great authority. There are other questions aside from telegraph monopolies to be considered in the selection of a Presidential candidate, one of which, that seems to have slipped from the mind of the Graphic, is the preservation of the sacred results of the war. Tilden was opposed to the war, and it is natural to believe that he now sympathizes earnestly with the State-rights secessionists, who seek to overthrow the war amendments to the Constitution. He is, therefore, unfit to command the armies and payies of the General Government.

MR. BLAINE'S SPEECH. Mr. Speaker Blaine's speech at New Haven, Conn., yesterday, a report of which will be found in our dispatches this morning, was, in many respects, a most commendable effort. It was thoroughly and radically Republican in every respect, and for that reason reads very much like some of the editorials printed in THE NATIONAL REPUBLICAN at the time when Congress was called upon to enact laws for the protection of the rights of Republican voters as citizens in the turbulent and discontented section of the country. The burden of his thought and the evident bent of his theme was for the preservation of all that the Republican party has held sacred in the past and expects to secure in the future. The results of the war seemed to be uppermost in his mind, and the positive menaces of the Democracy against the perpetuity of the war amendments to the Constitution were clearly set forth in his argument. With the rare ability which has distinguished him in political contests as chairman of the Republican State Central Committee of the State of Maine, he reduced the possibilities and the probabilities of the future to the stern demonstration of mathematics. 'Look at the figures," he said; "with Colorado admitted, the total electoral vote will be 369, of which 185 constitute a majority. The Southern States can give 138 votes, leaving only 47 to be obtained out of the 231 that belong to the North. The three States of New York, Connecticut and California can give these 47 votes, and your own prosperous State is one that is always found on the list of those who wish to control the government by this combination; and if this de-'sign could succeed, it would only be history repeating itself." The readers of this journal will admit that every word of this pregnant admonition-pregnant with danger to the Republic libel. Of course, he might prove to be a and the party-was first made public in second Jonah on shipboard, and be thrown | these columns, and made public at the ritical instant during the last session of Congress when it was feared that the "Re-'publicans would be unable to outvote the Democrats in the House of Representa-

Right here, let us pause for reflection. Mr. Speaker Blaine is a Republican-a very ecod one in the casual acceptation of the term. But we ask him, as a Republican, as a citizen, and as a patriot, to give us some indication of the result which would have ensued, if the Republicans had not been able "to outvote the Democrats in the House of Representatives?" The rules of that body enabled the minority, by means of fillibustering motions and dilatory parliamentary tactics, to delay its action al nost without limit. An amendment to the rules providing against such a possibility was suggested early in the session-imme diately after the holiday recess, in fact. It might have been adopted, and the Republicans would then have been able "to outvote the Democrats in the House 'of Representatives," if Mr. Speaker Blaine and a few other Republicans had not in caucus and on the floor of the House delayed decisive action on the proposition to amend the rules. The 138 electoral votes of the Southern States might thereby have been saved to the Union and the Republican party-synonymous terms; but unfortunately the Republicans in the House were prevented from outvoting the Democrats by a combination of the chicken-hearted, pin-feathered policy of a few weak-kneed brethren like W. W.a.l-t-e-r Phelps, of Mr. Blaine's anti-Administration Southern outrage committee, and the Democrats, until it was too late. The session ended and no provision had been made to protect the Republican voters of the Southern States in their right to vote for the supremacy of ' free suffrage and the Constitution with its amendments." Mr. Speaker Blaine admits that Democratic success in the next national campaign means danger to the Republic, because he sincerely believes that t would result in the treasonable assertion of State rights theories; but he does not explain why it was that the last Congress handed the Southern States, with their 138 electoral votes, deliberately over to the

Democracy. War With Mexico.

[From the Valley Virginian.] war with Mexico we care not how con it comes. We believe that manifest destiny, an advancing civilization, will sooner or later bring Mexico under the jurisdiction of the American Government. In 1847 General Worth proposed to hold it as conquered territory. His plan was comprehensive and statesnanlike, and had it been carried out we would have been saved the trouble, possibly, of another war with that country. In time Mexico will become a part of the Republic of America, whether during Gen. Grant's administration or not cannot be foretold. The transactions on the Rio Grande look very much like the accessity for action will be speedily provoked
